8:30-9:00 Registration

9:00-10:15 How Do You Know What You Know? Moving Beyond Your Genealogy Database—Genealogical databases are a great tool to store and maintain our family tree. However, they don't accurately reflect the most important thing we do as researchers—think, analyze, and explain. Databases are simply a list of sources and conclusions. Learn to document the reasoning that connects those sources and conclusions.

10:15-10:30 Break

10:30-11:45 Analysis and Correlation: Two Keys to Sound Conclusions—Careful analysis of individual records may reveal more evidence than we might think. Careful correlation combines all the evidence to solve difficult research problems.

11:45-1:00 Lunch. Prepared by OGS Trustee, Deborah Deal: Coleslaw, Mini Meatloaf, Cheesy Potatoes, Green Beans, Roll and butter, Dessert and Beverage.

1:00-2:15 Using Deeds In Your Genealogical Research: Location Isn't Everything—Deeds are people records, not just property records. Learn to uncover clues about identity, kinship, marital status, and more by digging deeper into deeds.

2:15-2:30 Break

2:30-3:45 Unlocking the Keystone State: Key Resources and Repositories for Pennsylvania Research—Pennsylvania can be a confusing genealogical landscape to researchers of all levels. Learn about commonly used, records methodologies, and repositories for successful Pennsylvania research.
